ALL READY FOR THE GREAT FAIR.

Tuesday Next Will Mark The Beginning of The Greatest Exhibition Ever Witnessed

On Tazewell Fair Grounds—Reduced

Rates on The Norfolk & Western

All arrangements for Tazewell's biggest event have been completed. New buildings have been erected, the excellent half mile track has been ground up and pulverized and raked and smoothed until it looks like the surface of a granolithic walk. The spacious grounds are neat and tidy, and the new coat of whitewash has given an air of cheerfulness to everything.

Men have been on the road for two weeks, scattering posters and advertising matter in every direction—down Elkhorn and the Clinch Valley—north and south into the country. All indications point to the biggest crowd ever seen in Tazewell. The Norfolk and Western will give special rates from all points between East Radford, Norton, Welch and Matoaka, beginning September 12, and good for return until September 16. To further make it convenient for the people down the Clinch to get to the fair and return the same day, the management has arranged for a special train the two last days of the fair, September 14 and 15, to leave Norton in the morning and return in the evening.

The Races—The outlook for the biggest string of horses ever seen at a county fair is very encouraging. The treatment heretofore given horsemen by the management has won their respect, and in making the round of the Virginia-Carolinas-Georgia Fair Circuit, the horsemen never miss the little city among the hills.

Stock and Poultry—Tazewell's superb riding and driving horses will be at their best in this exhibition. Larger premiums are offered, and every ring will be filled to overflowing. A large number of horse buyers come from distant states to view this show, and every year after the fair is over make purchases from local owners. The heavy draft class has been made a special study by the stock raisers during the past year or two, and the result will be a feature of the fair. Poultry from far and near will participate, and will be judged by R. L. Simmons, a thoroughly up-to-date fancier from North Carolina. Agricultural—The big building which has been erected for the purpose will be well filled with exhibits of every character from all parts of the country. The farmers are in earnest about the superiority of their corn, etc., and are sparing no effort to make this part of the fair a drawing card.

Needlework Exhibits—The ladies of Tazewell and adjoining counties are busy with needle and thimble, and promise piles of fluffy silks and linens.

Free Attractions, Etc.—Sinclair and Carlisle, real artists in their line, from Philadelphia, will give their double-comedy slack-wire and juggling acts, on an immense platform in front of the grand stand. Conser's educated dogs will also help to amuse the crowd. Zingarella, queen of the air, who wears a No. 1 child's shoe, with her dainty little feet will roll a globe weighing over 60 pounds up and down a steep spiral pathway 40 feet high, and give a fairy-like exhibition on top. Ferris wheel, merry-go-round, cane tables, hoop boards, candy wheels, African tap, Gypsy fortune tellers, and all the other carnival attractions will be on the big midway.

Arrange to be present. You'll regret it if you do not. Remember the dates—September 13, 14 and 15.

Don't Break Down.

Severe strains on the vital organs, like strains on machinery, cause breakdowns. You can't over-tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run-down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters, matchless, tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction guaranteed by Jno. E. Jackson.

Rev. Dabney Carson to Locate at Abingdon.

Rev. Dabney Carson and family have arranged to locate at Abingdon, and have rented the Henry Preston dwelling on Main Street. Rev. Carson, who is now located at Norton, is at the head of the home mission movement in the Abingdon Presbytery, and by going to Abingdon he will be nearer the center of his work. The Abingdon Presbytery is composed of the counties in the Ninth Congressional district, Grayson and Carroll in the Fifth district and one county in West Virginia. Something near forty per cent of the Presbyterians in Abingdon Presbytery live in Washington county.

It is said that Abingdon is the home of ten Methodist preachers and one Presbyterian, and on this account an unusual effort was made to induce Rev. Carson to locate at Abingdon. Mr. Carson is well known here and is the brother of the principal of the High School, Rev. W. W. Carson.

It Saved His Leg.

"All thought I'd lose my leg," writes J. A. Swenson, of Watertown, Wis. "Ten years of eczema, that 15 doctors could not cure, had at last laid me up. In Memory of Mrs. Layna Whitt.

In as much as we, the undersigned committee, have been set apart by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Pounding Mill lodge to prepare a few lines in memory of our sister, neighbor and friend, the wife of our brother, T. S. Whitt, it shall be our aim in this brief memorial not to make the burden of grief greater, but to try to comfort the bereaved.

Layna Whitt was born June 29, 1864, died August 19, 1910. She was married to T. S. Whitt twenty-seven years ago, and had been in poor health for the past several years. She leaves a mother, five sisters and one brother; a husband, and three children, besides many other relatives and friends to mourn her loss. But we sorrow not as those who have no hope. She had been a member of the church most all her life and had been a model member—living as a Christian should. She was a good neighbor—a friend to all around her—a fond mother and a loving wife. It is true, her place can never be filled, but let us be submissive to the will of God; let us remember that she did not fear death, she was willing to die, the only regret she had was that of leaving her family behind. While we know there is a vacant chair in the home left by her, let us be thankful that we can feel that in Heaven another has been filled. While her sweet presence is missed here and while we have lost so much, she has gained much more. Remember the many hours she spent in pain here; think of the days of bliss over there; of the sorrow here, of the joys there. Think of the struggles, toil and strife of this life all ended. Were you there would you want back? No! A thousand times no. Is it fair then to wish her back here? No! Let her rest in peace; but let us try to meet her there instead of wishing her back here. And, boys—you whom your mother loved so well—let us say to you: cherish her memory as you would the most priceless boon. If temptation comes your way and you are tempted to do wrong, let her memory guide you aright. Remember how her loving eyes would plead with you and say: "Don't do that, boys."

We cannot help saying to all young boys that: while your mother lives is the time to love her; is the time to watch over her; is the time to take care of her. Remember, she is the best friend you have on earth. If you are sick, who is it that is ready to do all she can for you? If you are in trouble, who is it that sympathizes with you? Who is it that is ready to serve you until strength will no longer permit? Mother! Then be careful, boys, how you treat her.

To the bereaved husband we would say: bear your burden as best you can; always be ready to say: "God's will be done, and troubled heart be still." To one and all we would say: sorrow not, but let her sweet memory always find a place in your hearts. Think of her as one whose troubles are over. Let us try to meet her where there are no more partings—where no more goodbyes will be said—where our friends will no more be taken away; where trouble will be a stranger; no homes broken up; no sickness, sorrow or death, but where there will be comfort, joy and peace. We feel that we speak the sentiments of the brotherhood, as well as of neighbors and friends, in mourning for the departed one and in expressing our sympathy for the bereaved.

Galax Fair Called Off.

Galax, Va., Sept. 3.—The Galax Fair Association Thursday declared the Twin County Fair off, that was to have been held at this place August 31 and September 1 and 2, under the auspices of Grayson and Carroll counties. Steady downpour of rain for two days, followed by uncertain weather conditions, caused the officials of the Fair Association to despair of accomplishing anything, and the board of directors concluded it best to give up the fair as originally planned. The heavy rains had made the track and the grounds a sea of mud. It was estimated that some three or four thousand people were in town Thursday despite the extremely inclement weather. The throngs of people accepted the disappointment philosophically, realizing that nothing else could consistently be done.

Do You Dread New Shoes?

It takes a deal of moral courage for some folks to buy new shoes. Stiff soles and unyielding upper leathers sometimes bring serious foot troubles in their wake. To many new shoes mean torment for a week or more.

Look for the Red Ball on the Box.

The Great Roanoke Fair September 20-23.

This will be the Eighth Annual Fair and its attractions will exceed those of the great expositions held in preceding years. This is due to the broad-minded and progressive policies of its management which comprises some of Roanoke's best citizens. The executive committee consists of Col. James P. Woods, Robert H. Angell, A. L. Sibert, J. W. Hancock, Louis A. and Henry Scholz, all of whom have obtained well-earned experience by their successful administration of the Association's affairs from its inception. Its object is not to share its financial profits among the stockholders; on the contrary what profits it has made have each year been turned back into the enterprise. This policy has resulted in the Association's now owning one of the most desirable and well equipped fair grounds in the South and its race track is the fastest south of the Potomac and Ohio Rivers.

The Association's object is purely to promote the best interests of the agricultural communities of which Roanoke is the commercial center, by affording the best opportunity for farmers, truckers, fruit growers, stock and poultry raisers and dairymen to witness the results of different methods of conducting their business.

There will be a fine display of agricultural, horticultural and dairy products, live stock, machinery, agricultural implements, fertilizers, etc.

Richlands, Va., Sept. 5.

C. M. Horton, Jr., made a business trip to Raven on last Saturday.

Clarence Lockhart made a business trip to Indian and Cedar Bluff today.

A number of people from this place attended the co-operation at Richlands.

Miss Lucy Hooker, of Rosedale, is the guest of her brother, Dreighton, of this place.

Robert Horton was a guest at the home of Floyd Ball the latter part of last week.

Mrs. R. J. Pierce and children were visiting Mrs. Elizabeth Lockhart one day last week.

Rev. Ezra Linkous preached a very interesting sermon at the school house here on last Sunday.

Robt. Davis had the misfortune to get his ankle thrown out of place recently, which has given him much pain.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Bragg, of Indian, were the guests of B. J. Lockhart and family Saturday and Sunday last.

Robert Davis entertained his friends, C. A. Lockhart, Cal and Ira Horton and Frank Criner Sunday evening last.

Peery Dowden, who has a position with the Norfolk and Western, spent the week-end with homefolks here.

Miss Ella Horton returned home today after a pleasant visit of several days with her sister at Sword's Creek.

T. D. Blankenship has returned from a trip to Ohio. He says he likes the Old Dominion much better than the Buckeye State.

John DeBord, of Sword's Creek, passed here the other day with a nice drove of calves, which he had purchased in the surrounding neighborhood.

Most all the patrons of the school here were pleased to learn that Frank Criner would be the teacher again this year. Frank is a jolly good fellow, and a splendid teacher.

R. W. Shreve is having extensive improvements made to his farm, which he recently purchased near this place. He is having all the timber cleared from "Abe's hill", and a large number of men are engaged in the work.

Tazewell Boy Favorably Spoken Of.

The Alumni Register of the University of Virginia speaks in the following complimentary terms of a Tazewell boy H. L. Spratt, of Richlands.

"Harry" Spratt, '10, one of the most popular students and best athletes that has attended the University in recent years, is playing third base on the Roanoke team of the Virginia League. He is one of the fastest infielders in the state and is leading the entire league with the stick, his batting average being about ten points higher than that of any other player in the league. Mr. Spratt will return to the University in the fall and continue his law course. He will be president of the Young Men's Christian Association for the session of 1910-11.

Mr. Spratt has an offer with the Boston team in the National League next year, but has not as yet decided whether he will accept.

A Bad Accident.

On Sunday as Eugene White was driving Miss Ocie Lee Hall to Cavitts Creek, where she will teach at the Willow Bridge school house this winter, the team became frightened by a Norfolk & Western passenger train and ran away. The team ran into the Clinch river and the buggy was overturned, spilling the occupants into the river. Strange to say, although the buggy was badly damaged and the top completely demolished, the occupants escaped with only a few bruises.

APPLES.

I will have 2000 bushels of the finest eating or cooking apples on the market. Leave orders with J. W. Moss, grocer, Tazewell, Va., or call at my farm in Baptist Valley, or write me at North Tazewell. The prices will be right.
